L. Borinstein Hails Workers and Givers; Out-of-State Leads

Raising the largest sum in the history of the Indianapolis Jewish Community, the 1939 Jewish Welfare Fund Drive closed at the report meeting Friday afternoon with $131,094.20 pledged. The campaign quota was $123,400.

Every division in the drive went over the top, with the out-of-state division far in the lead. The division whose quota was $2,000 brought in $4,194 for a percentage of 209. Other divisions and amounts raised were special gifts, $95,950; men's division, $19,387; Sephardic, $1,019.50; women's division, $10,067.10 and youth division, $476.60.

In the women's division team 9 led by Mrs. W. Borinstein, Mrs. P. Adler and Mrs. H. V. Kobin brought in $1,456.40 for a percentage of 309 to lead all teams in every division. Leading in the men's division was team 22 headed by I. Wolf, D. Rosenberg and H. Adler, who brought in $1,150 for a percentage of 212.

A victory dinner will be held in the near future it was announced.

Gratified with the splendid co-operation of the workers, Louis J. Borinstein, chairman in a statement Friday said, "I wish to commend highly the workers in the 1939 drive. It was their splendid inspiration and the generous response of the city that enabled us to go over the top despite the highest quota in our history.

"The campaign was conducted in a cordial spirit and there was a total absence of any ill feeling in any direction," Mr. Borinstein declared. "I think that the workers and givers alike should feel most happy about the whole affair."

Palestine Aroused As Refugees Ousted

HAIFA—A wave of resentment rolled over Jewish Palestine this week as the British administration countered illegal entry of Central European refugees by rounding up hundreds for deportation and forcing others to set sail on the crowded, leaky ships on which they had arrived.

The Greek steamship Assimi was seen drifting out in the Mediterranean with some 256 refugees aboard. The Government was preparing to force another Greek refugees transport, the Panagio, to leave. Some 390 refugees in two groups, found wandering near the coast after having been smuggled ashore over the week end, were arrested.

The Jewish Community of Haifa called a one-day city-wide Jewish protest strike and demanded more humane treatment for refugees stranded on Palestine's shore. The demand was backed by the American Jewish Association of Palestine. Four successive demonstrations were held by public school

Kuhn Threatens Suit As Anti-Nazi League Circulars Stay Up

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK—Dr. Mitchell S. Fisher, counsel for the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League, declined to take any action to withdraw posters identifying Adolf Hitler as a criminal and Fritz Kuhn as one of his agents in the United States, in the face of a threatened libel suit by Kuhn. Kuhn, leader of the German-American Bund, wrote to the Anti-Nazi League: "Your allegation in said circular and the reference which you have made concerning me, I am informed and advised, constitutes criminal libel. I request that immediate steps be taken to retract these accusations and the insinuation made and to correct the impression which your circular was intended to convey."

Dr. Fisher, who is an associate of Samuel Untermyer, founder of the Anti-Nazi League, said he was supported by Mr. Untermyer and would have the benefit of his advice. The circular, which was distributed throughout the city, is in the form of a police circular proclaiming that Hitler is "Wanted for Kidnapping" and other crimes. The reference to Kuhn is: "(Hitler) maintains agents and spies in U. S., notably Fritz Kuhn, former Ford employee, now head of German American Bund."

J. T. A. Sports Editor Lists Names, Prospects Of Jewish Big League Players And Executives

By MORRIS WEINER

Hank Greenberg, the Bronx lad who barely missed smashing the great Babe Ruth's record of sixty home runs, is all primed for another crack at the batting championship. What is more, with Lou Gehrig on the way out (though we wish the Iron Horse a long stay) Hank Greenberg will assume his throne as king of the firstbasemen. And when Bill Terry says, "Danning will be the best catcher in the National League this year, possibly in baseball, and I include Hartnett and Dickey." . . . boy, that's news (but thereby hangs a column and we'll save it for another day).

JEWIS IN SPORTS

Maury Aronovitch is back with the Philly Nationals and Goody Rosen and Fred Sington are in the Brooklyn Dodger line-up. Buddy Myer is still with the Senators. Moe Berg generally sees action as a coach but may break into his annual thirty games behind the plate.

France Outlaws All Anti-Semitic Acts In 2 Decrees

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
PARIS—The French Government acted this week to suppress anti-Semitic propaganda, submitting two decree-laws to President Albert Lebrun for his signature. The decrees, drawn up by Justice Minister Paul Marchandau, (1) make punishable "all acts tending to provoke hatred and discord within France for racial and religious motives," and (2) make illegal and punishable any collaboration with foreign propaganda, or receipt of funds from abroad for international propaganda.

Meanwhile, the Government dissolved three anti-Semitic organizations in Alsace on the ground that they were preaching disunity. The Popular Democratic Party adopted a resolution denouncing Nazi propaganda and demanding "severe punishment for all participating in pro-Nazi anti-Jewish publications, including dailies, weeklies and pamphlets. The action is necessary for national defense, the resolution said.

Large posters were displayed throughout the city, bearing the names of various non-Jewish organizations, including the League to Combat Anti-Semitism, which ridiculed propaganda attributing France's difficulties to Jews and aliens and branded such statements as "Nazi lies aiming to spread disunity in France." The poster pointed out that Jews and other aliens were among the first to apply for front-line military service last week.

Although the War Ministry announced that registration of alien volunteers was premature and ordered its cessation, the Federation of Jewish societies, which embraces all organizations of Jewish immigrants, issued a proclamation declaring that immigrant Jews considered France their second home and held it their duty to serve in the Republic's defense. "All immigrant Jews affiliated with the federation have decided to serve France with all the material and moral forces they possess," the statement said.

6-Year, 50-Year Wait Indicated As U. S. Visas Stopped

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

PARIS — Issuance of United States visas to German and other refugees was suspended this week by the American consulates in Paris and Berlin until July because the quota for this year, which ends June 30, is exhausted. Registration of applicants for visas will continue without interruption, however, it was stated.

Consular authorities estimate that 30,000 applicants are now registered with the Paris consulate and new applicants of German origin will have to wait approximately six years for their turn to get visas. Applicants of Polish origin, even those who spent most of their lives in Germany, will have to wait at least 50 years, since the American consulate in Paris cannot issue more than 15 visas monthly to those coming under the Polish quota.

While suspending issuance of visas for the next two months to applicants registered in Paris, the consulate will issue visas, without interruption, in cases transferred to Paris by American consulates elsewhere.

The strict requirements of the consulate regarding formalities make it impossible for many applicants to obtain American visas. Many find it impossible to submit the required certified copies of birth certificates since they cannot correspond with the German authorities. Similar strictness exercised by the consulate regarding affidavits of support sent by Americans makes many of these documents useless.

Motives of Bill Opponents Hit

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

WASHINGTON—Two opponents of the Wagner-Rogers refugee children's bill passed uncomfortable moments at the joint Congressional hearing when their anti-immigration views were challenged by members of the Senate Immigration Committee.

"As a father, a citizen and a veteran," M. W. Postman of the Adams Hats Employees' Association was saying, "I say that charity should begin at home." Senator King of Utah broke in: "Should it end at home?"

Herman Miller, of the Patriotic Order of Sons of America, was so savage in his opposition to the bill, that Senator Smathers of New Jersey remarked: "You're tough on immigrants, aren't you? How long is it since your forefathers were immigrants?"

"My forefathers were of the American type," Miller replied, "They would not undermine the country."

"Do you think children will undermine the country?" inquired Senator King.

"How can you tell?" Miller responded.

"Yes, and how could anyone know about your ancestors before

Country Called Christian

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

WASHINGTON—The United Daughters of 1812, holding a three-day convention here, heard a report of its resolutions committee urging a five-year ban on immigration as a solution to the problems of unemployment and relief and opposing the Wagner-Rogers refugee children's bill. Most of the refugee children are Jews, said Mrs. Arthur J. O'Neill, of Chicago, president of the organization. "I have nothing against the Jews, but this is a predominantly Christian country and we should take care of our own needy before we receive new aliens."

Community Councils Grow From 17 to 40

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

Community councils are becoming an increasingly popular form of Jewish community organization, according to an article in the current issue of Notes and News, published by the Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds. At least forty-six cities either have established or are in the process of organizing councils. In 1935 there were only seventeen such agencies in existence.

"I Am Part Jewish Myself," Wins Prize For Gentile Student

By JAMES A. RAHL

Editor's Note: A frank, spirited talk on the subject of Jews recently won the first prize of $100 in the Kirk oratorical contest at Northwestern University. It was delivered by James A. Rahl, a senior at the university and a Christian. Judges in the contest, which has been held annually since 1877, were Professor J. H. McBurney, Dr. Ray Carhart and Professor Leo Shapiro. Mr. Rahl's talk is herewith reproduced (in part) by courtesy of the Daily Northwestern, student newspaper.

Last year I sat at the dinner table of a very good friend. The occasion was Easter Sunday. And on this day of humility, brotherly love and kindness, the conversation was genial and warm. Not long after grace had been rather pompously granted to a loving Christ, the conversation turned to Jews. And I told of a fellow in the house who was Jewish, and who was one of the most likeable of all the men. Whereupon my friend's father roared: "I don't care how good a fellow may seem to be; if he is a Jew, I wouldn't trust him."

That story raises a ticklish question. It is a problem which we all feel. But we are loath to discuss it. Our student publications never mention it. . . . Yet it is a burning issue—this problem of anti-Jewish prejudice. We cannot postpone it forever.

. . . Rabbi Stephen Wise says: "The only profession I know of that does not bar Jews is the rabbinical profession." This is not an over-statement. . . . Loyola University replies to a hopeful Jewish student in these words: "We are sorry to inform you that your application for admission to the School of Medicine cannot be accepted because the quota for Jewish students has been filled." . . . Quotas in professional colleges are quite the common thing. . . . Heywood Brown made a survey of all the large employment agencies in New York City. He found that nine out of ten available office jobs are barred to Jews. . . . Employment ads in newspapers tell the story: "Gentiles preferred." . . . A prominent Pennsylvania mountain resort dresses up its discrimination with this subtlety: "Altitude 1,000 feet; too high for Jews." Moses himself would have trouble climbing that mountain.

We learned of the (Jewish) quota (at Northwestern) from an education professor who complained that too many Jews were enrolling in his school and then transferring to Liberal Arts to escape the quota.

This boy came to Northwestern, a green and guileless freshman. He was soon in the clutch of a large . . . fraternity. . . . On pledge night, the fraternity was ready to hang its pin. But one active, in pure jest over the boy's name, happened to say, "Say, Bob, you are not Jewish are you?" "Why, yes," said Bob. "Does that make any difference?" Horrified and embarrassed, the active lowered his voice. "Well, we can't take Jews in—national ruling, you know—but that's all right. All you have to do is say you aren't a Jew and no one will know the difference." Bob walked out, and he bears the scar of that wound to this day.

We tell him (an entering Jew) not to take offense at being refused a board job, or an off-campus room. . . . We tell him that so long as he keeps quiet and doesn't get too much publicity, he'll be all right. Then we tell him what the two Jewish fraternities tell all their pledges on this campus: "Don't be noisy in public. Don't shout on the campus. We can't do that!"

Anthropologists deny that there ever was a Jewish race. . . . And from a cultural standpoint, Jews cover the widest possible range of human nature. Jews vary from the most impoverished to the most wealthy in America. Some are the worst hoarders; others, the greatest spenders. Some are the worst Babbitts; others, the keenest intellectuals. Some are vulgar; others are aesthetic. . . . Jews come from the cultural backgrounds of fifty nations. How can we single out one type against which to vent our spleen and call it "the Jews"? We choose to judge 4,000,000 American citizens on the basis of a type fiction.

Prejudice becomes a habit of mind. It. . . makes probable the breakdown of reason in other fields of action. Democracy, which can exist only on the principles of justice and social equality, may be smothered by prejudice. It has been done in Europe. And further, if Jews may be ostracized, so may other minorities. There was a time

5 Named To Allocate Funds Over $9,500,000 From United Appeal

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—Five Jewish leaders have been named as an Allocations Committee which will be called upon to divide a substantial portion of the funds raised in behalf of the United Jewish Appeal's three constituent agencies; the Joint Distribution Committee, the United Palestine Appeal and the National Coordinating Committee Fund, Inc., Rabbi Jonah B. Wine, chairman of the appeal, announced.

The committee will consist of Rabbi Solomon Goldman of Chicago and Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland, representing the U. P. A.; Henry Ittleson of New York and Albert D. Lasker of Chicago, representing the J. D. C., and Louis E. Kirstein of Boston. This committee will determine the allocation of all funds raised above a sum which is to be distributed according to a pre-arranged ratio.

According to this plan $5,000,000 went to the J. D. C., $2,500,000 to the U. P. A., and $2,000,000 to the co-ordinating committee. All over this amount was to be divided among the three groups according to their needs by the newly-named committee of five.

when Irishmen were treated in America as Jews are now. . . . Who knows what group will be next? Catholics? Christian Scientists? Methodists? Prejudice is a threat to all that we call tolerance, love and peaceful living. It must be outlawed.

How can we do this? Not by an amendment to the Constitution! For we have seen that prejudice is

Roosevelt Praises Palestine Work In Fair Message

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The President of the United States paid tribute to Jewish progress when he expressed himself on the Jewish home in Palestine on the occasion of the opening of the Jewish Palestine Pavilion at the New York World's Fair.

His message in full follows:

"Out of the World War came a matter of great spiritual significance—the establishment of a Homeland for the Jewish people, recognized as such by the public law of the world. In the realization of this aim the United States played a leading role. I know how close it was to the wish of President Wilson. The formal terms of its expression during the war, the so-called Balfour Declaration, had his personal approval, and he did much to have it written into the peace treaty. The subsequent unanimous endorsement of the Balfour Declaration by both Houses of the United States Congress gave further proof of the deep interest of the American people in the purposes of the Declaration and in the fulfillment of the moral obligation which it involved.

"Jewish achievement in Palestine since the Balfour Declaration vindicates the high hope which lay behind the sponsorship of the Homeland. The Jewish development in Palestine since the Balfour Declaration is not only a tribute to the creative powers of the Jewish people, but by bringing great advancement into the sacred land has promoted the well-being of all the inhabitants thereof.

"I shall personally watch with deep sympathy the progress of Palestine."

an individual matter and therefore must be handled in individual cases. If every mother today would sweep away the cobwebs of hatred from her children, the next generation of Americans would know no prejudice. But this is too much to hope for. What else can be done by brave and intelligent people?

Stuart Chase, the economist, has an effective device for putting the damper on Jew-baiters. He tells of a friend of his. This man was a good solid Irish Catholic, with no Jewish ancestors. One day a farmer was ranting about the Jews. "If you ask me," he said, "Germany's got the right idea. Jews ain't fit to live in the same country with decent people." . . . The Irishman turned on the farmer. "That's a pretty strong statement, Mr. Perkins. You know, I'm a quarter Jewish myself." Mr. Perkins, whose income depended partly on the Irishman, collapsed.

If 2,000,000 respected Americans would try that one for a month or two, most of our prejudice Jew-chasers would be silenced forever. And we could do it with real justification. For after all, are we not all part Jewish? If we live by the inspiration and ethics of Christ, we are using a way of life developed entirely by Jews. If we love the music of Mendelssohn, perhaps even of Wagner, we are inspired by Jewish creations. If the works of Emil Ludwig, of Stefan Zweig, and of a thousand other Jewish writers, are part of our culture, then we are part Jewish. If our minds have been reshaped by the philosophy of Spinoza, the psychology of Freud and Adler, and the discoveries of Einstein and Steinmetz, then we are part Jewish. And perhaps even our bodies have been spared by the work of Koch, Erlich and Wassermann. We may owe our lives to Jews. We might add to this list indefinitely. But this is enough. If we recognize the tremendous contributions which Jews have made to our civilization, our culture, and our lives, and if we recognize that we ourselves are the product, the child, of all the forces of civilization and culture of the past, then

Refugees Open Club; Start Search for Jobs

LOS ANGELES—Refugees in Los Angeles, who have formed a German-Jewish club, now have a clubhouse. There are 450 paid members. Most important activity of the club is its social service—getting jobs. They are able to fill about 50 per cent of the applications. Classes in English are given, and those who cannot attend are urged to go to the public school. They publish a weekly newspaper, Neue Welt, which supports itself entirely by its advertising.

The club's principal purpose is to maintain an attractive social center for all Jewish refugees so as to keep the spirit of Judaism alive among them.

we may say with perfect justification that we are part Jewish.

This should be a fascinating experiment. But even more, it should be the endeavor of all straight thinkers. Can any educated person hold a brief for prejudice? We wish to dispel this stain upon a good people. We wish to make America free from hatred and safe for all its citizens. We wish to add to our own broadmindedness and self-respect. Then, let us meet this individual problem with an individual solution. Pause before your next remark about the Jews and think, "I am part Jewish, myself!"

British Strengthen Palestine Defenses

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

JERUSALEM—Measures to defend Palestine's coasts against any possible aggression were being rushed by authorities, with a ring of floating mines already thrown around the port of Haifa.

Civilian defense is also being elaborated by the government. Experts ordered to draw up a plan for anti-gas protection have recommended formation of corps of specialized nurses and education of the population by special police detachments. Installation of a network of detector wires over cities to signal the approach of enemy aerial squadrons by setting off alarm sirens was also recommended. A special committee headed by Lady Trusted circularized English women, including Jewesses, to volunteer their services in the event of war.

An executive committee was chosen and it was resolved to cooperate with the American Friends of the Hebrew University in bringing the university to American Jewry's attention, in providing material assistance and in increasing the number of students attending the university.

pupils and students of the Hebrew Technical High School in Haifa. Boys, girls and women carried signs, "Open Palestine's Gates to Illegals!" Strong police and military detachments patrolled the streets, dispersing demonstrators but making no arrests. A Jewish youth and a British constable were injured. Demonstrations were also held in Tel Aviv.

Appeal to Government

The Jewish National Council of Palestine met to consider action and rejected the demand of Jerusalem student delegations for a nation-wide Jewish general strike. Isaac Ben-Zvi, president of the council, appealed to William D. Battershill, Government chief secretary, not to force the departure of the Panagio. The Jerusalem Jewish Community sent a delegation to Edward Keith-Roach, District Commissioner.

While the demonstrations were in progress in Haifa, the Assimi could be seen drifting out into the Mediterranean. It was forced to weigh anchor after being held for nearly two weeks in the harbor, its passengers incommunicado. Harrowing scenes marked the ship's departure. The refugees could be seen jettisoning clothing and drinking water. Screams and prayers from the exiles huddled on the deck could be heard from the shore. Several of the passengers were rumored to have committed suicide by jumping overboard.

Hunger Strike Halts Sailing

The sailing of the Panagio was postponed after the passengers had launched a hunger strike when informed of the scheduled departure. The Haifa Jewish Community demanded of the Government that

"One cannot repeat too often," Mr. Laski said, "that if there is a section of the world population to whom peace is more essential than to anybody else, it is the Jews."

L. S. AYRES BAKERY DEPT.:

Some people say that three little words, "I love you" are the sweetest words known, but I know one that ranks on a par or even above that ancient phrase. I mean M-O-T-H-E-R. It's true that she thinks only of your welfare all during the year, and you can show your gratitude on one day, Mother's Day. L. S. AYRES BAKERY DEPARTMENT are already preparing special cakes for the occasion and what could be a sweeter gesture from you to her than a fine, Ayers-made cake. Place your orders now and each will receive individual attention.

Mr. Vanderbilt, owner of the bakery department at Ayres, informed me that his wife has been confined to the hospital the last several weeks after having been stricken with acute appendicitis. I feel that I am expressing the sentiments of her many Jewish friends when I wish her a speedy recovery.

INDIANA FUR CO.:

Last week I made a prediction and this week it's come true. The sun is shining, the grass is turning greener all the time, and hundreds of people are storing their precious furs at the INDIANA FUR COMPANY. You remember I said a few weeks ago that you can have your coat cleaned, glazed, demothized, new tie-strings sewed on and insured for only $3.50, with storage, $5.00. Don't think I'm jesting too, when I say that they have already received a complete shipment of 1940 styled coats. Designing, such as can be had in these new creations is utterly modern and swingy, and it'll really be worth your while to come down there and look things over.

Try as I may, I didn't see any of our lovely ladies adorned in chubbies or furs this last week as the weather was too mild. I saw them in frilly dresses, sport suits and even raincoats, but no furs. Well, I imagine they all took my advice and stored them at the Indiana Fur Co., so, maybe I'll spy someone next week whom I can rave about.

HILLMAN'S:

Listen, Madame, you'll have a real right to "sing the blues" if you don't hie down to a place known as the most exclusive in town to do your shopping. Gorgeous, exquisite, breath-taking, individual, chic, swanky, those are but a few words you'll hear if one of your friends see you with one of the many lovely things to be had there. Say, don't you have any idea of whom I'm speaking? Well, if you don't you haven't been reading this column regularly 'cause everyone knows that superlatives and exclusiveness mean HILLMAN'S, the shop from which sport suits, evening wear and jackets emanate. Come on now, get those many coins out of the old cream pitcher in the corner, count 'em up and come on down and get in step with spring with a new outfit from HILLMAN'S. People do pay attention to their label.

DARLENE PICKERING, INC.:

Say, I walked into a home the other day which would prove a perfect experimental laboratory for Miss Pickering. The shades were worn, the wall paper had that brownish look, every piece of furniture seemed to be in just the wrong spot, vases were empty, and it was, in short, a mess. Is your home a potential place for experimentation? Perhaps it's not as bad as the picture I've painted but truly now doesn't the ol' hacienda need a little face-lifting. Sure it does so call Miss Pickering, 1028 N. Delaware St., and see if she isn't a decorating magician.

Holland Refugee Camp To Cost Million Guilder

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
THE HAGUE—The Government has introduced a bill in Parliament to appropriate 1,000,000 guilders for the construction of a new camp to house 2,500 legal and illegal refugees. Since only 329 refugees have emigrated between March 1, 1938, and Jan. 1, 1939, Government spokesmen pointed out that the duration of the refugees' stay was likely to be prolonged. The proposed camp, it was stated, would consequently have a semi-permanent character and would replace 26 existing camps.

Oh, nuts, it's heck to toil
While buds are budding atop the soil.
Oh, gee, how swell 'twould be
To lie and loaf beneath some tree.

I bet many of you kiddies feel about the same as I do; especially, now when the thermometer is really beginning to wake up and go places. This is the time I think of swimming, tennis, golf, and, well, my love is already taken care of!

Taking advantage of the weather last Sunday, Joe Schwartz and his fiancée, Bernice Cohen, took a trip to the Shades, about sixty miles from Nap town, to cavort mid the woodlands. They had a swell time all right, except for one little incident. It seemed that Bernice attempted to cross a creek; it seemed that she lost her footing on the slippery rocks; well, it seemed then, that the only thing left to do would be to go flippety-flop into the water. Well, it seems as if she did!

Say, dear readers, all three of you, have you noticed the ads we carry from Miller's Service Station and Fairbank's Loan Company? Well, I am not trying to give you the ol' baloney when I say that they're the kind of places you really enjoy patronizing. Mr. Fairbanks has some real buys and Mr. Miller has some mighty powerful gasoline and oil. Come on, folks, give 'em the business. What say?

Got hold of the "Octagonian," national publication of Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity, and noticed a neat write-up about Mannie Rothberg, a Sammie at Indiana U., and a native of Fort Wayne. The lad really is a campus "rod" and I'm proud to number him among my acquaintances.

Don't ask me how I know, but what follows is not supposed to be known by anyone but the Junior Council; that is, up until now. My fraands, I geeve to youse, the new ossifiers of that worthy organization. They be, Florence Slutsky, president; Edna Weisman, vice president; Thelma Levy, secretary; Annette Herman, auditor; Mary Jane Faller, recording secretary; Phylis Cooler, corresponding secretary, and Beryl Madiel, parliamentarian. Glad that is off my chest.

The Wiegel Cabinet Company of this city, Julian Freeman's firm, recently received very high acclaim when the work they did for an Eastern company proved so outstanding that a full page of pictures and comments was devoted to them in the April Architectural Record! Fine going!

"Oh, take me out to the ball game, take me out with the crowd..."
Yep, some of the tribe went to watch members of another tribe; that is, the Indianapolis Indians, last Sunday. Watching the fly-chasers were Mr. and Mrs. Benny Borinstein, Dave Gelder, Jack Ladin, Sam Levinsky, Dr. Harold Jaffe and son, and many more.

Say, I'll bet many of you gals didn't know that Ginger Schwartz is our new society editor. Soooooo, if you know of any new babies, weddings, engagements, riots, fires, accidents or parades, pick up a telephone, get demon Schwartz on the wire and then—Read it in The Post.

Harry Einstandig pinned Rosalind Barksin recently and I think congrats are still in order! So, besta of the besta. Florence Slutsky sure has a warm spot in her heart for the Buckeye State. One of her fellers lives in Cleveland, the other in Dayton, so she flits from one to the other, I mean, of course, the cities!

Gertie Berman, Adele Levy, Evalyn Goldsmith and several others went horseback riding Sunday at the Indianapolis Saddle Club and a bouncing good time was had by all. It was the first time Gertie ever rode, but while the horse traveled slow she got along fine. In fact, she thought she was getting pretty good, got ram-buncious, smacked the creature, he galloped, and Gertie, well, the poor gal isn't navigating so well these days.

That about winds up the Post's Parade of Popular Pipples for the Present, so I'll come knockin' around your house next week. S'long.

BOOK every Jew in America ought to read is Edna Ferber's "A Peculiar Treasure," the frank, fascinating autobio of one of America's best-loved authors. . . . In which she doesn't pull punches on the question of anti-Semitism. . . . Names names of some well known people of rishus tendencies and fries them to a satisfying turn. . . . To rhyme it.

I have praise without measure
For Ferber's "A Peculiar Treasure"

AN INTERESTING tale of the Talmud is brought back by Arnold Beichman, former JTAer, from Venezuela. . . . Its hero is a Galician Jew. . . . Who, as a youth, scandalized his family by refusing to study the Talmud. . . . While his brothers and other relatives followed the deeply religious pattern of Galician Jewry and sopped up Talmud with their morning mush. . . . The rebel emigrated years ago. . . . Landed in Venezuela. . . . Amassed a fortune. . . . Now he's bringing over every one of the Talmud scholars, even those distantly related.

SLIGHTLY uneasy are two prominent American Jews, one of them pretty active in philanthropy, who are in the bad graces of the anti-Nazis boycotters.

RUMORS are rife about what was said during a pretty hot meeting of about twenty top-flight wealthy Jews, held recently in Miami. . . . Anti-Semitism in the United States, the refugees, and related subject were discussed.

WONDER if it would make any difference if somebody were to inform the balmy Berliner that his precious swastika was used 2,000 years ago by the Jews. . . . Authority is Prof. Fernand Mayenze of the University of Louvain. . . . Who reveals that the emblem, painted in the now well-known Nazi style of black on a red background, was found on the walls of a synagogue unearthed in Syria on the site of the ancient city of Apamee.

SOUR GRAPES is what led that lad Charles Socrates (no kiddin') Weiss to turn against the anti-Nazi boycott. . . . Shortly before he disrupted that Hippodrome rally by the Volunteer Christian Committee to Boycott Germany, he had come with an offer to another prominent boycott group. . . . Asking them to "take over" the boycott activities of his paper organization, the Anti-Fascist, Anti-Nazi, Anti-Communist League. . . . On the grounds that he had no time to give it his full attention. . . . And was very definitely turned down.

MISH-MASH: It is estimated that Laurence Steinhardt, new United States Ambassador to Soviet Russia, will have to spend a hundred grand in his Moscow post. . . . To collect his annual wage of $12,000. . . . Judging from previous upkeep records of toprank ambassadorial jobs. . . . Read Philip Bernstein's crisp, well-thought-out article on the Jews in April Harper's. . . . New York News columnist, Danton Walker, thinks Hitler picked April 28 as the day to reply to F. D. R. in revenge for the LaGuardia crack about a "chamber of horrors." . . . Figuring to wipe the World's Fair news off the front pages with his Nazi thunder. . . . Same columnist reports Morris Gest having difficulties about getting midgets for his Fair exhibits, most of them coming from Germany "where we heard only supermen grow." . . . Mendel (JNF) Fisher had a narrow escape when he airplaned back from the Cni conference. . . . Plane got befogged as it reached Newark, couldn't land, had to return to Syracuse. . . . Mendel went from there by train. . . . And then found his 8-year-old son down with pneumonia. . . . Lad now doing well. . . . Congrats to colleague A. A. Roback on appearance of Swedish translation of his "Self Consciousness Self Treated." . . . Making third language in which one or another of his books has been translated. . . . According to Jean Jaffe, in the Palestine Review, Palestine Jews read about 5,000 foreign publications, on which they spend some $15,000 monthly. . . . Bravo to Isidore W. Schlesinger, South African industrialist, who on disposing of his newspaper and news agency interests recently donated $25,000 to the South African Society of Journalists to be used as a trust fund for employees hit by the merger. . . . Return of Ezra (poet) Pound with praise for Hitler and Duce on his lips recalls that Ezra once praised Silvershirter William Dudley Pelley. . . . Drawing from Aleph (better poet) Katz the retort. . . . "Oh, well, he's still Pelley wise and Pound foolish."

Better Business Bureau Spikes Refugee Rumor

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

PITTSBURGH—Persistent rumors that Jewish refugees have been given jobs in Pittsburgh stores, thus displacing local workers have been branded as entirely false by the Better Business Bureau here in a statement announcing the findings of an investigation made of the reports by a committee of civic leaders and club women. "It is our opinion," the bureau announced, "that the simultaneous circulation of these rumors in every large city in the United States strongly suggests that subversive groups have inspired this whispering campaign in an attempt to stir racial prejudice and unrest."

camp were two groups of refugees, totaling 388, who were successfully smuggled ashore, only to wander helplessly until they fell into the hands of troops and police. One party, officially put at 218 in number, were arrested in Jewish-owned groves in the vicinity of Ashdod after being landed from a ship which escaped.

Another group of 170 refugees, who had been landed after 36 days at sea, were found by troops stumbling among the sand dunes near Ashkalon. The ragged, hungry and thirsty exiles, some of them sick, had 50 women and 10 children in their number. They were brought first to the military camp at Ashdod, where they were given bread and tea by the soldiers, and were later transferred to the Jaffa jail. They were led through the Jewish town of Rehoboth, whose streets were jammed with sympathetic colonists held back by a cordon of troops. This group was interned in a concentration camp at Sarafend.

The unidentified body of a German Jew was washed ashore in the vicinity of Ashkalon. He had apparently been drowned while landing.

HOLLYWOOD—If reaction to the "Nazi Spy" trailer is indicative, the actual film, by ratio of footage, should cause such a voluble storm as to wake up the Rip Van Winkles who think Hitler has no malicious intent in this country—or to rouse out of their lethargy those who just don't think. The audience hissed every shot of the Bund . . . cheered to the chandelier top the fadeout line.

During the production of the film, members of the Deutsch-American-ischer Kulturverband and other German-American societies (minimum estimate of members, 800,000) were eager to demonstrate their Americanism and their anti-Nazi feelings.

A gag? Leon G-Man Turrou, going to New York, asserts he has a new commission—to take a print of "Nazi Spy" to Germany! "Execs feel the German people ought to see the picture . . . so I was chosen as the logical man to do the trick."

Max Factor J. has written a book, entitled "Planned Glamor." "Planned Glamor" would be more appropriate in these parts.

The Editor's Chair:

Several weeks ago I received an appeal from a certain Bruno Frankel to publish for him a short item requesting affidavits for German-Jews. The item came to me on the stationery of the Bronx Post of the Jewish War Veterans of which Mr. Frankel said he was chaplain.

The appeal sounded bona fide and I could see no harm in publishing it. But there was one reservation that made me hesitate. I knew Miss Cecilia Razovsky personally and I was sure that if the National Coordinating Committee needed affidavits that these affidavits would be secured promptly and with dispatch and through the proper channels. So I turned the letter over to Charles Strull, one of the leading men in the nation in handling refugee problems, and he in turn got in touch with Miss Razovsky. I am reprinting her letter, which is self-explanatory. I might point out here that Mr. Frankel circularized practically every Anglo-Jewish publication in the United States and that many of them, including the American Jewish Outlook, and The Indiana Jewish Chronicle, printed the announcement for him.

Dear Mr. Strull,

I have your letter of recent date inclosing letter which Bruno Frankel, chaplain of the Jewish War Veterans of the United States, New York County District Council, has sent you.

I am very glad that your editor was so thoughtful and considerate as to let you see the letter. We certainly disapprove publishing such a request at this time. You know that there are over 300,000 affidavits on file with the American Consuls abroad of which probably half will be discarded as not being adequate. The Consuls are more and more insisting upon definite proof from the affidavit maker as to how he plans to receive the immigrant for whom he is assuming responsibility. As you know, in Berlin, Hamburg and Antwerp the Consuls are now demanding bank accounts set up in escrow for the newcomers. We are afraid that these friendship affidavits, so called, will not be very helpful in the future, but that on the contrary, the Consuls will discount their value.

You will soon be receiving from us a statement of our policy with regard to the acceptance of affidavits from persons who have no intention to assume financial responsibility for the persons for whom they are making the affidavits. The situation with regard

Some Sell Their Heritage

This plea for a deeper faith in and practice of democracy by Jews, what is it? Does it derive merely from the fact that democracy and its successful operation is the one great bulwark, the one successful defense against fascism. Or does the demand from all sides by Jewish leaders go deeper? Is there more significance to this reaffirmation in democracy, than in the mere exigency of the times?

For the rabbis of the nation, this call for a reaffirmation in the principles of democracy is nothing new. Every rabbinical council of the past few years, whether it be the Central Conference of American Rabbis or the Rabbinical Assembly, attacked the problem of inequality, injustice and hardships for the masses under our present system of government, realizing long before the laymen awoke, the big stake Jews had in the successful operation of democracy.

That our rabbis knew before the laymen awoke is not a matter of prophecy but of knowledge of Jewish history. A generation or two ago, laymen argued deep philosophical and historical Jewish questions with the rabbi. They often knew as much if not more than their spiritual leaders, who often as not were aught but laymen themselves. There was no need then to tell the layman that democracy was in fact born of biblical precepts. When the historian Lecky said that Hebraic mortar cemented the foundations of our government, he made a statement which should have been commonplace knowledge to all Jews.

Can you see then, that this call for democracy is needed today because Jews are ignorant of their own history. What Jew, genuinely learned in the ethical concepts of the Bible, would have supported the Nazis. What Jew knowing Isaiah and Micah could today be a reactionary.

Jews must fight for the success of democratic institutions, Max Lerner told Jewish audiences throughout the United States this winter. Jews cannot afford the luxury of reaction, Harry L. Lurie, executive director, told the Council of Jewish Welfare Funds and Federations meeting in Los Angeles last week. Something new under the sun? Of course not. Some sell their heritage for a mess of pottage, others are just ignorant of their heritage.

Current Comment

Some Jews Accepting Discrimination Voluntarily, Prince Hubertus zu Loewenstein Says in B'nai B'rith Magazine.—There is a negative side, too: Since Nazism came to power, I have found Jews who more or less accept a sort of discrimination voluntarily. Because the Nazis tell them "to keep their proper place," many Jews seem to be willing to submit to so disgraceful a modesty.

The Jewish Press of Omaha Tells How An 8-Year-Old Boy Is Doing His Share in The Campaign.—The spirit of the 1939 Jewish Philanthropies campaign has spread to the ranks of the very young. Monday evening an 8-year-old shyly approached the desk at the Jewish Community Center. In his hand he clutched four cents which he offered as the down payment on a five dollar pledge. He would, he promised, come in every day to pay what pennies he had managed to collect.

Attendants at the Center office suggested that perhaps five dollars was a pretty steep pledge for such a young man. Though he insisted he would pay-up, he never-the-less agreed to sign up for one dollar, and if he did save up the other four, he would turn them in too.

To show his good faith, he re-appeared Tuesday night with an additional five cents. At the last writing, he had ninety-one cents to go before completing payment.

Attempt To Muzzle Rabbis Draws Ire of Rabbi Louis I. Newman.—The dilemma of Franco's supporters can be seen in the address of Judge William O'Dwyer of Brooklyn, at a meeting of the Holy Name Society of St. Anselm's Roman Catholic Church. "Catholics," he said, "believing that the natural right of freedom of religious worship for everyone was threatened in Spain and that Franco stood for the protection of that right, Catholics chose to support Franco. If he disregards democratic processes and favors the use of the bludgeon of dictatorship on his people, then he will deserve, not our support, but our condemnation. The Spanish people are entitled to the best form of government, which you and I know to be democracy.

All this is of interest to the People of Israel, in the United States and elsewhere, for a number of reasons. One in particular is the attempt of a certain self-appointed vigilante group in the community to bring pressure upon the Rabbis to come out in favor of Franco in order to "appease" the Brooklyn "Tablet," Coughlin and others of the Catholic community. At this time, I do not wish to give the entire story of this deplorable and misguided attempt to muzzle the Rabbis at the behest of these Jewish persons, but it need scarcely be said that any Jew, however influential he may be or may not be who seeks to threaten Rabbis either directly or indirectly on behalf of the agents of Franco, Hitler and Mussolini in this country, will find that he has struck a Tartar. We caution any league or society of Jews against any inquisitorial procedure in the community. No professional group, in fact no group whatsoever of Jews, should be brought together as a group, to be told to correct their alleged behaviour on the ground that it breeds Anti-Semitism. If this be done with refugee physicians, it could be done with Jewish movie magnates whose large salaries breed envy and prejudice; it should be done with any Jewish lawyer who takes the case of an unpopular client; it should be done with Jewish business men who embark upon a new form of business enterprise with programs to which community sentiment is as yet unattuned. We have had enough of the endeavor, in the days of panic, to imitate those short-sighted Jewish leaders of Amsterdam who excommunicated Benedict Spinoza. The Jewish community is organized on a free and liberal foundation; we wish no watch and ward tactics among us. This statement is directed at one group in Jewish life which, on reading this, will know exactly what I mean. But it is important that my readers in general know that there is a grave danger lest vexation and needless dissension be caused by well-meaning, but ignorant or self-opinionated Jewish "communal leaders" who interfere with matters of opinion on the part of other Jews. And as for freedom of pulpit utterance, we warn those who seek to tamper with it that they will find themselves the target of the severest censure by the Rabbis of America if they persist in an attempt to use the muzzle. And as for asking that Rabbis support Franco, such a notion is beneath contempt. Franco has done nothing which merits the encouragement or approval of Jews or liberals. If he changes we will then give our judgment, but not until then.

The Jewish Transcript of Seattle, Wash., Is Perplexed By Layman's Tour Publicity.—The Transcript for some time past has received much material concerning a forthcoming tour of 100 prominent laymen who it is claimed will visit three hundred cities in April and part of May. Very vague details have been furnished. We do not know what the programs will be, where they will be held or under what auspices. Properly conducted on definite lines of presenting the position of the Jews in American life, a tour of this kind ought to accomplish great good. Out on the Coast we feel somewhat perplexed as the maps sent out show a vast preponderance of attention to the East and Middle West and very little proposed time for Western Jews. The public is interested and expectantly awaiting full and complete details. Seattle is deeply interested in knowing when the body will come here and what they propose to do after they get here.

Herbert J. Seligmann In His New Book Quotes From Linton's "Study of Man" To Show Interchange of Human Accomplishments.—While smoking tobacco (cultivated in America) the citizen reads the news of the day, imprinted in characters invented by the ancient Semites upon a material invented in China by a process invented in Germany. As he absorbs the accounts of foreign troubles he will, if he is a good conservative citizen, thank a Hebrew deity in an Indo-European language that he is a 100 per cent American.
